Sponsorship Brochure

Following the success of this conference over the past two years, we are delighted to be planning this year's conference supported by the BOA.

About The BOA

The British Orthopaedic Association (BOA) is the Surgical Specialty Association for Trauma and Orthopaedics in the UK. We have over 5,000 members worldwide, the majority based in the United Kingdom and Ireland. As a Surgical Specialty Association for Trauma and Orthopaedics in the UK we provide national leadership, a unifying focus, and a charitable endeavour by:

Caring for Patients, Supporting Surgeons.

Membership is made up of consultants (active or retired), staff and associate specialist grades (SAS) and trainees. There are almost 300 overseas members.

AI in Orthopaedics 2024

This year the event will take place at the Royal College of Surgeons on 19th December and 20th December. The format will be similar to previous years following a workshop style on day one mainly dedicated to the technical aspects of AI including Python, Coding etc. The breakout sessions planned for this day are aimed to accommodate all levels of knowledge from novice to expert.

The second day will take a more traditional conference format with podium presentations from practitioners in the field and updates from some of our previous speakers and presentations from a range of experts including funders, regulators, experts in allied specialities and some experienced international practitioners from who we can learn.
